About Me

I'm a Flutter developer from Minsk. I've been working with Flutter for about three years, starting from university, where I developed my coursework and thesis projects. After graduation, I joined my current company as a Flutter developer, where I've been working for the past year. During this time, I have tackled a variety of tasks, such as adding new features, fixing bugs, and enhancing design. Additionally, I have been involved in application testing and improving UI/UX.
